Services details

An assessment of a person's conditions and care needs is conducted either over the phone or in person. The assessment provides information that is critical to the development of the persons short and long-term goals and how those goals will be achieved.

It also includes a comprehensive assessment of the persons home, identifying area which may require some modifications that could support the person to live as independently as possible, in their own home, for as long as possible.

It is also an important part of identifying the individuals needs and strengths while at all times respecting their lifestyle choices.

Based on the wellness approach, a coordinated care plan is then put in place.

Periodic reassessments are conducted to ensure the care plan remains relevant to the individuals' current needs.
